

Four Of One by Miss Lovely

9/10 Good Job! #13

Chapter 2:

H

Harry opened his eyes, and groaned. Everything was white, walls, floors, curtains everything. He sat up straight, and took his glasses. Now he could see much better. He didn't recognize this room. "Was it a trick of voldemort?" he thought, and searched trough his pockets for his wand.

Someone came in and Harry aimed his wand at the unown man.

"Put that wand away boy" the man said, but Harry didn't move. The man made a movement with his hand, and Harry's wand flew in his hand.

"Who are you?" Harry asked

"My name is Azu, Harry. Yes, I know your name" he said when he saw Harry's surprised face.

"I have waited a long time for you."

"For me?" Harry said disbelieving, "Why me?"

"You, Harry, Are one of the four."

"One of the four?"

"Yes, boy. One of the four. Four people will be chosen, who shall save the world of Darkness. Each one with different qualities of the elements; Fire, Sky, Earth and Water.

Each one will be educated one year by different elves. Elves of the North, East, south and West. You are the chosen one of Fire, and trained by the elves of the North.

After one year you will go back to Hogwarts, and you must fulfill your task, what lays on your shoulders from the day were born. Understand?"

"Yes, I Understand"

"So, Harry James Potter, Son of James Potter and Lily Evans, will accept your task and will train a year?"

"Fine, I will do it" Harry said stubborn, anything against voldemort could come in handy.

"But who are the other chosen ones?"

"That is something I don't know, and something we won't find out till we are ready for it." Said Azu. "Lets go, i will show you your're room."

Harry followed the man all the way up to a tower. He opened a room on the left. Here's your room. Harry had never seen such a room. It was a big room, at the walls were painted flames and at the floor was a black carpet. There was a bed, a desk and chair, a bookcase, 2 comfortable chairs and a couch before a fireplace, and another door. Harry loved this chamber. "Do you like it?" Azu asked

"It's fantastic"

"The other door leads to a bathroom. Get some sleep Harry, Tomorrow is going to be tough." And with that Azu leaved.

Harry looked through the bookcase, and checked out his drawers. He saw on his watch it was already late so he went to bed....

