

PACKING CHECK LIST

- Fall and spring semesters usually contain a fluctuating season of cold, rainy, warm or hot weather. For example, within one week you can experience a cold front, a rainy day and end with a warm sunny day. There is the possibility of snow during the months of December, January and February and usually the university will NOT cancel classes. It is important that you prepare for all types of weather. This is just a guide for your packing needs please use your own judgment.
- IMPORTANT NOTE: These items below are not provided by the university and are the sole responsibility of the visiting exchange student.
